A Guide To Pattern Grading

A sloper pattern (home sewing) or block pattern (industrial production) is a custom-fitted, basic pattern from which patterns for many different styles can be developed. The process of changing the size of a finished pattern is called grading.. Several companies, like Butterick and Simplicity, specialize in selling pre-graded patterns directly to consumers who will sew the patterns at home.

Grading is without a doubt one of the hardest challenges faced by new collectors. When browsing a dealer's inventory, the various terminology used can be very confusing at first and with some seemingly less attractive coins being graded higher than more attractive coins, it's a wonder any new collectors actually figure out how it all works.
