Before proceeding to a summary of the book's content, it is worth mentioning at the outset what Vidu's book is not. First, Atonement, Law, and Justice is not an exercise in "doctrinal criticism" whereby the Church's theological convictions are all but reduced to the interplay of otherwise atheological factors. It is one thing to say that atonement theories inevitably draw upon contemporary ...

In Seventh-day Adventist theology, the heavenly sanctuary teaching asserts that many aspects of the Hebrew tabernacle or sanctuary are representative of heavenly realities. In particular, Jesus is regarded as the High Priest who provides cleansing for human sins by the sacrificial shedding of his blood. The doctrine grew out of the church's interpretation of the 1844 Great Disappointment.
