The state of the kit world is sound! That is the conclusion we reached in our visit to AirVenture 2013 this past July. Walking the grounds, talking with kit manufacturers, and most importantly with builders (and prospective builders), the buzz we found was that people are interested in not only completing existing projects, but in starting new ones.

The old saying "you get what you pay for" applies to gun safes, but not necessarily for security. With most gun safes, what you are paying for is nice paint, chrome, decorative items, and interior. Typical gun safes sell the appearance of protection in a security container that can be broken into in a couple minutes with pry bars or an ax. ...

The Remington 870 shotgun. If anyone can think of a more iconic scattergun let me know, because I'm pretty sure this is the tops. Star of stage and screen and gracing the gun safe of just about every gun owner in the United States, it's a familiar sight on the range and in the field. But somehow, we here at TTAG have never reviewed the gun before.
