For a while now, I've been working on my not-so-secret project: a big nonfiction comic about visual communication across disciplines. This blog will continue to be pretty quiet while I toil away at the book, but bits and pieces have been showing up in my visual lecture as well. If you manage to catch me on the road anytime in the next year or two, you're bound to see evidence of this ...

Earlier this month, I taught an illustration workshop at La Galeria Roja in Seville, Spain and it was a dream.A dream! Spain was beautiful, old, inspiring, and lovely, but I have to be honest...the thing that made the whole experience unforgettable was the students.

I came of age in a sleepy little Southern outpost where a neon-lit Mr. Peanut shop was the grand attraction of our downtown Broad Street. Tobacco warehouses perfumed the streets of my neighborhood with the heavy scent of drying leaves; some neighbors (though not the kind you'd want to know, as my mother would sniff) still hung Confederate flags over their front stoops, or plastered ...

A blog (a truncation of the expression "weblog") is a discussion or informational website published on the World Wide Web consisting of discrete, often informal diary-style text entries (posts). Posts are typically displayed in reverse chronological order, so that the most recent post appears first, at the top of the web page. Until 2009, blogs were usually the work of a single individual ...
